DEDICATION

We respectfully dedicate this annual "Reflector of 1948," to our teacher and Senior Sponsor, Miss Elaine Esarey, in appreciation of the friendship and cooperation that begun in our first years of school at Larwill.

We are soon to become graduates of Larwill High School, to assume our respective duties in the world. Even though we may be scattered far apart, Miss Esarey will linger in our hearts and minds, not only now, but forever.

We will remember her not only as a teacher and our Senior Sponsor, but as a close friend and companion. As a teacher, she has helped us along to make the best still better, and with her guidance and assistance she has helped us to make this book a success. There were times when the going was rough, but with her guidance and good mercy we were quickly thinking of the better side of the situation.

To Elaine Esarey, who so wondrously guided our lives toward success in school, with all good wishes we do respectfully dedicate this book with the loyalty and admiration of its makers.

CLASS FLOWER

The Senior Class of 1948 have chosen the white rose for the class flower.

The rose is a symbol of fragrance and loveliness. A white rose is the symbol of secrecy.

Through all the centuries civilized man has praised the beauty of the rose above all other flowers. In the words of an ancient folk story the rose is spoken of thus:

"When God fashioned some of the unsightly things which must encumber the earth, wanting to show what beauty He could also create, He made the most beautiful thing of which He was capable, He with all his great powers. He made the rose. And ever since, when mankind wishes to express itself with the utmost beauty, it used God's symbol of beauty--it uses a rose."

The rose is started from a slip or cutting. Humans begin as a child and grow. We and the rose grow along together. The rose grows in stature and beauty; the child in stature, beauty, knowledge, community living and other characteristics of our modern community.

The rose cannot grow without cultivation, pruning, and spraying, if it is to develop to its greatest beauty. Children, young men, women, and adults cannot grow to their highest and most useful place in life without home, church, community and educational training.

WE SEEK THE HIGHER THINGS IN LIFE

We seek the things that make for peace
We seek the acts that make war cease
We seek the remedy for war and strife
We seek the higher things in life.

During our school days, we've learned to obey
We've learned to cooperate in work and play
We've studied the causes of war and strife
We've studied about the higher things in life.

We have found that to "get along"
You have to drop your pride and admit you're wrong
This is one of the remedies for strife
This is one of the higher things in life.

As we go out into this world of ours
We realize it will be no bed of flowers
We know we will encounter strife
But our goal will still be "The higher things in life."

It's not the work of any individual soul
That will obtain this great goal
It's the teamwork of student, laborers, man, and wife
That makes the Higher Things in Life.

Vera Jean Buntain

WE SEEK THE HIGHER THINGS

We of the graduating class of 1948, have chosen as our class motto, WE SEEK THE HIGHER THINGS.

As graduates of Larwill High School we will all start on an even level. The progress that we can make is unlimited. We will be responsible for our destinies from now on.

The goals sought by some will not be the same as others. Education on a higher scale is planned by some, while others will go into the world looking for fame, prosperity, and wealth, Factory workers, doctors, teachers, stenographers, beauticians, and other occupations will be followed by the members of this class.

Determination, ability, and good hard work will make us what we are to become. After our own goal is chosen we will try to attain the higher things in life for ourselves.

CLASS COLORS

The class of 1948 have chosen the colors of "blue" and "white" as the class colors. Blue like the blue seen in the clear sky, the sea and in flowers, stands for truth. White is like the color of the pure snow and has long stood for purity.

We have chosen these colors because we would like for our lives to be as the meaning of the blue and the white. We hope always to strive for the better and higher things of life--those that will always be pure and ever truthful. With pureness of soul, mind and body, the truthfulness through our hearts, we want to become better and more successful citizens of this community and country.

Parents, teachers, classmates and friends, we, the Senior Class of 1948, wish to express our thanks and gratitude to you for being our guests tonight. We hope you have enjoyed reminiscing with us on the eve of our departure.

As we take our places in the world as housewives, farmers, students, and office and factory workers, we shall always remember the high standards and good background we have obtained in our school life at Larwill.

To our parents we are deeply grateful for their encouragement and understanding in seeking the higher things of life. Without their cooperation, the things we have achieved would have been impossible.

We are greatly indebted to our teachers for our scholastic education which prevails in all free lands, such as ours. Through your training I am sure we will have the necessities needed in the pursuance of the vocations we have chosen.

Parents, teachers, and friends, the members of the Senior Class and our sponsor, Miss Esarey, wish to welcome you to this class night exercise.

The class night program is always the first of our graduation exercises. It will start our Commencement Week. We have arranged it to entertain you and we hope you will enjoy it along with us. In this program and the other graduation exercises, we are attempting to carry out our motto, "We seek the higher things". Tonight we shall go back over our days in school and dig up old memories out of our trunk in the attic.

On May 2, we will present the second in our graduation exercises, the Senior Sunday Service. This year we are presenting a new idea into our programs. That is more student participation. The program will include the invocation, benediction, and a number of short talks developing our theme given by members of our class.

Vera Buntain

We shall always cherish the many friendships and fine associations we have gained through the twelve years we have spent with our classmates. No matter where we go or what we do we will remember the encouragement given us by our friends who have shown a great interest in our school activities during the time we were acquiring our education here at Larwill High.

As we close our adventure in high school, I wish to express my hope that this graduating class not disappoint you, but will live up to your expectations, by always having the goal, "To Seek the Higher Things" in life.

I want to thank each and everyone of you for making possible this wonderful high school career we are now departing from.

--Jeanne Gebert

We believe that by presenting the program ourselves we are gaining one of the "higher things", the ability to present an idea to a group of people, and develop poise. We hope you will enjoy this program and help us by attending.

During the first week of May, our class is going to take a trip. We will carry out our motto, in that, we are going to see historical places, visit two other states, see natural wonders, and many other things. Because our trip is planned carefully, worked out in detail, and selected for variety and location, we will gain much in our education from it.

Our last exercise will be on May 7, the Graduation. This will be a happy occassion for all of us and in a way it will be sad. We will be happy because we have achieved this goal and sad because we are leaving the place we have friends we have learned to know so well.

In closing, I should like to thank our parents who have been so wonderful in understanding our needs during our school years and providing for them, our teachers who have guided us in our study and all of the senior class for being such nice people. Let me express my thanks to you for being here tonight and again wish that you will enjoy the program with us.

CLASS SONG
(Tune of Wiffenpoof)

Verse-------
Oh, the Seniors down at Larwill
Will say so long to you
As we go on out into the open world
Yes, we've alway's loved old Larwill
And we hate to say goodbye
As we came here as Freshman long ago.

Yes, we hate to leave old Larwill
And the days we'll ne'r forget
As we pass the day when school will soon be out
We alway's will remember what the teachers
did for us;
And we thank them from the bottom of our hearts.

Refrain-------
We are twenty-seven Seniors,
Who are leading all the rest;
-----Soon we'll leave-----
We hope you'll remember us as good kids
through the years;
-----Then we'll know-----
Seniors of Larwill will say to you
Join in our hearts for the years will too;
Lord have mercy on all of us-
-----So long now-----.

SENIOR HISTORY

September of 1944, found thirty-eight pupils looking forward to the long and hard journey through Larwill High School. Those from Larwill were Jeanne Gebert, Ronald Weaver, Robert Hartman, Robert Smith, Gene Bohnstedt, Martha Leutz, Glora Souders, Vera Buntain, Cecil Huntley, Geraldine Huntley, Joyce Weirick, Marjorie Noble, William Phend, J. D. Boggs, May Stump, Lee Eberly, Velma Gaff, Huletta Jackson, Joan Weybright, Phyllis Vandersaul, Hal Schuman, Robert Cramer, Duane Hawn, Eldon Mosher, Paul Gates, Pat Cole, Evelyn Elkins. J. D. Boggs got a late start to school and Clara Jean Clark came from Roanoke the last of September. Lucille Egolf left in October to go to California. J. D. Boggs withdrew in January, Doris Bowers came from Pierceton and Clara Jean Clark went back to Roanoke. William Watson and Cecil Huntley withdrew to go to work.

May Stump left us to attend North Webster. In March Janice Ward and Rosetta Mussleman came from Columbia City, Lucille Egolf came back from California and 15 days later entered Columbia City. This left our class with thirty-nine members at the end of the Freshman year.

Thurlow Schuh was elected sponsor. The class elected Jeanne Gebert, President; Ronald Weaver, Vice President; Joan Werstler, Secretary and Treasurer. The first party was a hayride to South Whitley to the show, the second was a weiner roast held at the Community Building.

The Sophomore year began with thirty-six members. In the first semester Paul Gates, Robert Cramer, Duane Hawn and Geraldine Huntley withdrew to seek fame and fortune. Rosetta Mussleman entered Kendallville. James Rose came from Concordia in Fort Wayne and in January he again entered Concordia. By spring there were still twenty-eight doing their best to get through school.

Eudolph Holycross was elected sponsor. The first party was a Halloween Party at the home of Jeanne Gebert; the second was a weiner roast at Robert Hartman's sugar camp.

Jeanne Gebert and Huletta Jackson were chosen high school cheer leaders.

Jeanne Gebert and Joan Werstler entered an Algebra Contest and Janice Ward a Geometry contest at Fort Wayne: Jeanne Gebert and Bonnie Kile entered a Latin I contest, also held at Fort Wayne.

During the summer months Huletta Jackson and Richard Michael left to attend Columbia City. Keith Felty came from Bellville, Illinois. Thus we started the Junior year with twenty-seven members. At the beginning of the second semester Keith Felty left to go to the Navy.

The class party was a chili supper at the school house and later in the evening we attended a football game at Warsaw. Mr. Fredrick was the sponsor. The second party was a "Kid" party held in the gym. Martha Leutz was one of the cheer leaders. To raise money our class sold concessions at the Basket Ball Games and held a Cake Walk.

The reception was held in the gym on April 26. A south sea island theme was used.

The fall of '47 found the Senior class with twenty-six members. Paul Hearn entered from Central Fort Wayne at the end of the first semester. Elaine Esarey was elected sponsor. Our first party was a pot luck at the school house. After supper there was square and round dancing.

The Senior started their money making campaigns with a magazine subscription sale. Later pencils with the basketball schedule were sold. A pencil dispensor was rented and placed in the commercial room. L. H. S. pins with graduation years were sold. In December a paper drive was held.

In January the Seniors held a cake walk and sponsored a Bingo Party with entertainment. Group pictures for the annual were taken the last of January, and in February the annual staff started really working.

In March members of the class spent much time and energy rehearsing for the play "Twixteen" which was presented April 2 and 3.

The reception was given in honor of the Seniors on April 24, at the Larwill gym. The theme was centered around plantation. The gym was transformed into a scene which fitted the theme.

Class night was held April 30 in the assembly. The scene was the attic. An old trunk held souvenirs which recalled class and individual activities.

Baccalaureate Services were held Sunday afternoon May 2. The graduation class was in charge of the services, with a program presented by members of the class. It was held on Sunday afternoon. The choir sang and Commencement exercises were held Friday evening, May 7, in the school assembly. Lee Eve was the speaker of the evening. Seniors presented the program except for the speaker and presentation of Diplomas.

On Monday, May 3, the class began its trip. The class visited the Soldiers and Sailor's Monument, the State House and the World War Memorial at Indianapolis, the goldfish hatchery at Martinsville, the Art Museum at Bloomington, and spent the night at Spring Mill State Park. Thuesday, French Lick Springs, Lincoln Park and Santa Claus, and Wyandotte Cave. Wednesday: Louisville, Gold Depository at Fort Knox, Abraham Lincoln Park at Hodginsville, Kentucky, My Old Kentucky Home at Bardstown, + Kentucky state capital at Frankfort. Thursday at Cincinnati; Union Station, Rookwood Pottery, Restaurant Contenienal in Hotel Netherlands Plaza, and zoological gardens.

PROPHECY

While heading for destinations unknown carrying sealed secret orders, our plane crashed into the middle of nowhere. Lucky for us the three of us survived, with one drawback: We didn't know who we were, where we were, and why we were there. In other words, amnesia.

We walked to a nearby cabin which belonged to a Genevieve and Phil. She stated that she was the former Genevieve Banning and that she had been married to Phil for some time. They acted as though they knew us, but we didn't recognize them. We asked to use their telephone and the operator started talking to me and told me her name was Phyllis Vandersaul, just like she expected me to know her. We called the neighborhood mechanic to come and work on our plane. He turned out to be Gene Bohnstedt, whoever that is. He said that our plane was damaged too badly to be repaired and that we would have to walk to the nearest town. He said that we could stop at a farmhouse for the night. The first place we stopped was a chicken ranch owned and operated by Lee Eberly and his wife. It was nice but the chickens made noise all night.

About noon the next day, a jeep carrying a nurse and her supplies met us on the road. It had on it, Joan Weybright, RN. She also talked as if she knew us. She said she was going to the next farmhouse to set a man's broken arm. We hopped in and went along. The injured man was Robert Smith, who has a large stock farm. The man from the next farm was helping him with his work. He was Hal Schuman and we learned that he operated a grain farm. They started talking about our school days at somewhere called Larwill. We tried to keep our mouths shut and not act too dumb. As we started to leave a talkative traveling salesman forced his way into the house. He was selling permanent wave kits named after himself, Harold Van Voorst.

Around dusk we were getting close to a city but we thought we would stay in a tourist cabin overnight. As we didn't look very well after being on foot two days, the proprietor didn't know whether to let us in or not. After she got a good look at us she said, "Why girls I didn't know it was you, come right on in." We looked at her in a dumbfounded way and walked in. The sign over the door read, "Evelyn Marrs Tourist Cabins," which meant nothing to us then. Just as we entered, a large limousine drove up. The well known traveller and author, William Phend, stepped from the car and directed his chauffeur to take it to the garage. He came inside and greeted Evelyn and we three alike. It was beginning to get monotonous running into people who knew us but we didn't know them.

We left Evelyn's the next morning and took a bus into town. Since we were looking rather tacky we decided to find a dress shop and beauty parlor. We went into a dress shop named "Vera Jean's Dress Shop". She started asking personal questions about the other kids in the Class of '48. She acted surprised that we didn't recognize her, and asked if we remembered Vera Buntain. We didn't, and she thought we were kidding and told us to come to the back room to see Martha and Glora. Martha Leutz and Glora Souders thought we were kidding also and told us about their Sewing Center. We all got new outfits and asked where the nearest beauty parlor was. They directed us to "Myrt's Beauty Shop". The girl who worked on our hair seemed very pleased to see us. We learned in a round-about way that her name was JoannBohnstedt, but that meant nothing to us.

Our stomach's were feeling rather empty and we looked for a restaurant. We went into "Ward's Place" and ordered hamburgers, french fries, and cokes. A girl at the next table kept looking at us as if she knew us. Finally she couldn't stand it any longer and came over to talk to us. She told us about the doctor she was secretary for and how well she liked the work. Over the loud speaker came "Telephone message for Marjory Orcutt." The girl talking to us said "That's me, so long girls, I'm glad I saw you," and left. We said, "Well that was Marjory Orcutt, whoever she is," and got up to pay for our meal. At the cash register the girl started talking to us and told us about some of the kids she had seen from our class. A messenger came in and handed her an envelope. On it was the name, Janice Ward. We presumed that the girl was Janice, and said "Goodbye, Janice."

Across the street was a modeling agency. We thought we would go over and see about getting a job. The receptionist had a name plaque with the name Joyce Weirick on her desk. She started to talk to us and said she was a part time secretary and also a housewife. We asked to see the boss and she showed us through a door which had "Richard Michael, President," printed on it. "Well what are you girls doing here?" was the first thing he said to us. "We want a job," was our reply. He told us he was sorry but he couldn't use us. He said he was used to working with beautiful girls and had quit using girls for mystery shows for over a year.

Feeling very depressed, we left and started walking down the street. As we walked by a door, a girl came busting out and bumped into us. She gave us a cheery greeting, "Hi kids." Tied to a coat was the name "Marjorie Noble." By this time we were used to strange people speaking to us and responded with "Hi Marge, what ya doing?" "I'm going to the Sporting Goods Store for my boss Dr. Swayback, to get a baseball bat for his son's birthday present, "she panted in one breath. We asked if she ran errands for him. She said that she was his secretary.

"We are at the store now," she said and we walked in. "Who runs the store?" we asked. "Don't you know? Ronald Weaver does," she replied. We commented, "thats nice." Ronnie came to the front of the store and spoke to us and asked Marge where she picked us up, and asked us where we'd been for the last few years. We thought it was a nice question, but didn't know the answer so we just giggled. Marge bought her ball bat and we parted upon leaving the store.

One of the bright three suggested stopping in at the "Donut Shop" across the street. We walked up to the counter and ordered coffee and donuts. We ate them and asked for our check. "But girls, it's on the house." We looked at the waitress and asked why. "Don't you remember me? I'm Velma Gaff and I now own this shop, she said. "If you wait awhile Jeanne Gebert and some of her college friends will be in. Just then the door opened and Velma said, "here she is now." Jeanne spoke to us and introduced us to her friends. We asked Jeanne what she was studying in college now. She said that she was now studying medicine and would soon graduate.

We left the donut shop and started to the hotel. We decided to take the street car, but before we got on someone yelled at us from a factory car. We thought we'd better go over and investigate. On the car door was Hearn Manufacturing Company, underneath this was Paul Hearn, President. "What do you think of a president driving an old car like this around", he asked. "Do you have a driver's license?" we questioned. He laughed and said he had. So we told him it was all right. "You kids haven't changed much," he said. I would like to stay and talk longer but I am due at a meeting in fifteen minutes." He said, "So long," and drove off.

We got on the street car, and as we crossed the next intersection a truck coming from the other way forgot to stop and hit the street car. We were knocked out, and came to in an ambulance. "Can't you kids stay out of trouble?" we were asked and finally we saw someone we knew. It was none other than Robert Hartman. "What's the big idea running all over town pretending you don't know anyone you graduated with back in "40", Bud inquired. We told him we couldn't remember anything since our plane had crashed. He looked as if he doubted what we said and we asked him what he was doing. He said that he had acquired his life long ambition and is now a mortician. We asked how his business was and he said, "Rather stiff, but I like it that way." We asked him if all the kids in our class were still around. He said that they were and we decided to look them up before we started back to our Destination Unknown.

PRESENTATION OF SCEPTRE

The Senior Class of 1948, present you with this Sceptre which represents good sportsmanship, high ideals, high scholastic standing and friendship.

Good sportsmanship is obtained through interclass sports, noon hour activities and interschool sports, which the class members have participated in, during their school years. By using good sportsmanship in these activities we have come to accept honor and loyalty as virtues.

Our teachers and parents have helped us obtain many high ideals which we have tried to maintain and improve through our four years of high school.

Our high scholastic standing is shown by the fact that the senior class has had the highest percentage on the honor roll during the past school year. The class has had several of its members in language and mathematics contests.

We have made many new friends among the lower classmen and have learned the real value of friendship through extra-curricular activities. These friendships will be cherished for many years after we have graduated.

The Senior Class of "48" have tried to maintain the meaning of this Sceptre, and as you receive it, we hope you will do the same. I remove the Blue and White to make room for the Green and White.

ACCEPTANCE OF SCEPTRE

In the name of the Junior Class I accept the Sceptre with deep appreciation and with the hope of great success throughout our coming year. We will guard and respect the Sceptre as you and the previous classes have guarded it. We wish to offer our congratulations to you and the preceeding classes for leading the way in this school, which makes our task much simpler.

You have led in scholarship, as shown by the numbers upon the monthly honor roll; in sports as shown through awards given on Award Night; in music as shown by the enrollment in choir and chorus; in school paper and annual as shown by these publications; in leading and guiding assembly programs; in planning your trip and other commencement programs. You have shown yourselves leaders of merit.

You have done your best to make high the standards in this high school during the four previous years. You may be sure we will be guided by your leadership, even though we will use our own ideas through the same activities. We wish to thank you for the Sceptre, symbol of leadership, with most sincerity.
